Despite the common assumption that God is at the center of Jewish practice and belief, the topic is seldom discussed formally in Jewish circles. God seems to be either taken for granted or dismissed. According to a 2003 Harris survey, only 48% of American Jews believe in God, whereas 19% of American Jews believe there is no God and 33% of American Jews aren't sure whether God exists. And yet, all of those responding identified as Jews. What then is God's role in Judaism? Does God exist? What is God's nature? What does it mean to be created in God's image? What role does God play in the world and in the lives of individuals? What does it mean to be commanded? Why do we pray?

This 23-part video series attempts to address these and many other questions relating to Jewish theology, belief, and practice. Through interviews with a wide range of scholars, philosophers, theologians and Jews of all ages and persuasions, WHO KNOWS ONE seeks to discover how Jews see God—or don't.

Selected Endorsements

"A WONDERFUL, thought-provoking series that explores difficult questions in a totally accessible manner. WHO KNOWS ONE offers a chance to hear a wide array of scholars and teachers express many different perspectives. Deeply engaging."

"A BRILLIANT use of the personal interview technique. There was an immediacy and obvious sincerity, even passion in the content of the remarks by different individuals. And the content itself was of high quality—a real insight into 21st century Jewish thought."

"I HAVE USED WHO KNOWS ONE DVDs to open my classes up to the variety and power of modern Jewish thinking and all my students have the same response—AMAZING! IT WAS LIKE HAVING GREAT PHILOSOPHERS IN MY LIVING ROOM!"

"A REMARKABLE contribution to the discussion of Jewish Theology, and a highly useful and engaging educational tool . . ."
